PUBLIC WARNING

A most uneasy feeling is going all around the community of Bow Island and Districts, that all is not as it should be.

Dark hints and rumours are filling every home and giving everyone the creeps, people are afraid to go out at night, and afraid to go to bed in the dark.

When the men dare to go out they go with matchings and a good gun for safety.

We hear that the Spooks are out, and no one knows when they may suddenly feel the glammy hand of a Spook fastened on their shoulder; so everyone be aware.

We hear that the Spook's home has now been located in the
I.O.O.F. Hall in Bow Island; so we call on all good citizens to surround the place on Halloween night October 31st, and then rush in and capture all the Spooks, so that we can live a quiet and peaceful life for ever afterwards.

All good citizens come in your hundreds!

G. W. Johnson 7 miles south of town is leaving in a few days for

British Premier On Need of the Hour

London.—In a speech at Sheffield, Premier Lloyd George urged the need of greater productivity on the part of the nation. He pointed out that the national debt was nearly £8,000,000,000. His words had been well received, as the cost of living was higher than ever, but that that standard should not be preserved by a concourse of tribunals or the decisions of labor conferences.

The Premier called upon the British people to see that the peace was a real peace.

"It is not the British habit," he said, "to nag, harry, insult and threaten. We are going to see that Germany has confined the conditions we have laid down, we must give her a clear chance to lead a decent, peaceful and honorable existence."

Some Teamsters Still on Strike

New York.—Striking members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers, most of whom are employees of the American Railway Express Co., voted to return to work after a meeting attended by 2,500 in Cooper union, while other teamsters engaged in transporting milk in the city decided to accept an increase of $3 and 50 cents over 97 cents per ton compensation, instead of the $10 weekly increase demanded by the men.

The express drivers' vote was practically unanimous, only one negative vote being recorded.

Contradictory Reports

Stockholm.—Reports regarding Pakow are contradictory, some declaring that the city was taken by the Germans and others that in capture had been delayed owing to the destruction of the railroad tracks. The station, both to the south and north, according to advice received here, are known to be in the hands of the White forces.

Riga More Normal

Helsingfors.—Conditions are becoming more normal in Riga following an attempt to capture the city, it is stated in advices received here.

Most of the newspapers are again appearing. Supplies are short, however, and prices of commodities are soaring.

Print Paper from Prince Rupert

Prince Rupert, B.C.—Thirteen carloads of paper made at Ocean Falls and consigned to the New York market were sent by rail to Prince Rupert. This paper was made from pulp furnished by spruce logs felled on Queen Charlotte Islands during the airplane industry which concluded with the signing of the armistice.

Canadians Anxious To Come Home

Great Britain Is No Place for Holiday-Maker At Present

OTTAWA.—The Department of Immigration and Colonization has received by cable a warning from England that there are thousands of Canadians on the other side anxious to come home, but under no circumstances will be accepted. It is said that this situation is being accentuated by the arrival of visitors from Canada. When the cable was sent from London rating officers were posted to Canada, and we have laid down, we must give her a clear chance to lead a decent, peaceful and honorable existence."

Canadians who contemplate a visit to the mother country can do so only with the greatest difficulty, and would consider the impossibility of returning within a few weeks after arrival there.

Want Prohibition in France

PARIS.—The fight against alcohol will be leading plank of the national platform in the forthcoming elections. Ministers are demanding the absolute suppression of alcohol, and the walls of Paris and the larger cities are covered with pamphlets and posters have been mailed by the hundred thousand to hotels and individuals in the provinces.

The Prince does not suppose alcohol, which will suppress France's posters proclaim in huge characters, and add, "Three million individuals live upon the traffic of alcohol; thirty-five million suffer and die from it."

Laws Give Little Complaint

WINNIPEG.—Lieut-Colonel John Thompson, chairman of the Penitentiary Board, Ottawa, and Major Stanley Corstorphine, commissioner, advised that a new criminal section of the district penitentiary office is to be established in Victoria, B.C., to Winnipeg, and report that there was little complaint as to the manner in which the criminal law was administered in the West. In practically all instances they found that a proper explanation of the regulations eliminated the reasons brought forward for the complaints.

Want Stamped Cheques

WINNIPEG.—The Federal Government is being asked to arrange for an issue of cheques for use of all chartered banks which bear the two-cent stamp.

Closing In On The Bolshevik Forces

London.—In official quarters here it is decided that General Denikine, commander of the northwestern Russian force advancing on Petrograd, is working in close understanding with Admiral Kolchak, head of the all-Russian government, and General Tukhachevsky, commander of the Red Army, the Bolsheviks in Siberia, southern Russia and on the northwestern front.

General Yudenich's troops are fast enveloped now by the allies, with whom the general is in constant touch. He, as well as General Denikine and Admiral Kolchak, it is declared, has consistently rejected all overtures from Germany and maintained their connection with the allies.

In connection with the report from Germany that Great Britain had invited Germany to co-operate in the conquest of Soviet Russia, the Press learns that a communication of this nature was made to Germany by the peace conference.

Word of the request to Germany came from the Foreign Office of Soviet Russia first from Berlin, and later was followed by reports from neutral states informing that they, too, had been requested to join in a blockade.

No definite announcement has been made from Paris, but, however, has been made from Paris.

London.—The Skenna River salmon pack has been completed, and the season's value is set at $407,900. The sockeye pack was a good deal larger than usual, the total going 180,000 cases, which at $15 a case is valued at $2,700,000.

Land For Soldiers

2,700 Quarter-Sections In All For Sale

Fall

OTTAWA.—Through the intervention of the Soldier Settlement Board, school lands in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, amounting to 2,700 quarter-sections, have been withheld from sale, in order to be made available for settlement by returned soldiers. Arrangements have been completed to advertise these lands, 2,700 quarter-sections each, this fall. The lands are situated in the Winnipeg, Brandon, Ashern and St. Rose de Lac districts in Manitoba, and the Canora, Dugald, Prince Albert and the Kawartha districts in Saskatchewan.

Double Tragedy Feared

EDMONTON.—Grief concern is felt in Peace River over the report brought in from Bear Lake by a half-breed that he had found evidence of a double tragedy in the Bear Lake.

It is feared that two well-known young men of Peace River, Scotty Leitch and Duncan Stewart, are drowned.

Valuable Salmon Stock

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C.—The Skenna River salmon pack has been completed, and the season's value is set at $407,900. The sockeye pack was a good deal larger than usual, the total going 180,000 cases, which at $15 a case is valued at $2,700,000.

Hungarian Peace Pact Delayed

No Government in That Country With Which Supreme Council Can Deal

PARIS.—The supreme council and the peace conference will probably not end immediately after the Hungarian treaty is concluded, but a few members representing the various governments will remain to complete the work.

An entirely new set of delegates will be sent to Berlin to negotiate the treaty with Turkey when the allied and associated powers learn whether the United States will accept a mandate for Turkey or a part thereof, and are able to agree upon the disposition of the Turkish territory.

The Bulgarian delegation is now on its way back to Paris and there is hope that the Bulgarians will be allowed to act as mediators in the negotiations.

The Hungarian delegation is now on its way back to Paris and there is hope that the Bulgarians will be allowed to act as mediators in the negotiations.

There is no government in Hungary with which the conference can deal, and the French delegation will probably be made up of a few delegates remaining in Paris to negotiate a treaty with Hungary when a satisfactory government is established.

I Hope Every City and District Will Win My Flag"

When Edward, Prince of Wales—eager, bright eyed, smiling and sincere—arrived in Canada in August, and when he voiced his great admiration of the war work and at home, once again we were thrilled with joyous pride.

He asked concerning Canada's reconstruction programme, and when he was told of the Victory Loan 1919, he graciously consented to the use of his Coat of Arms on the flag, which is to be a great honour for districts attending the queue in the loan.

In dedicating "The Prince's Flag" at Ottawa on Labor Day, His Royal Highness said in part—

"It is a great joy to me to be associated with the loan, which is the bridge between war and peace, and which is finishing off the job."

"I hope every city and district will win my flag."

Striking and beautiful in design, this flag will form not only an unique momento of Victory Year, but a lasting and outstanding souvenir of the visit of His Royal Highness—a visit which will remain as one of the most memorable events in Canada's history.

The reproduction above shows the design of the flag. The body is white, the edge red, the upper left hand corner the Prince of Wales' Coat of Arms.

The flag is made in two sizes, 4 feet 6 inches by 9 feet for small cities, towns and villages, and 7 feet by 13 feet 6 inches for cities of over 10,000 population.

Canada has been divided into canvassing districts by the actors of Organization. Each district forms one district. Other districts have been determined according to population.

Each of these canvassing districts has been allotted a certain amount in Victory Bonds to sell. To win the Prince's Flag, therefore, a district has to sell its allotted amount in the Prince's Flag.

Anticipating that many districts will buy far beyond their allotment, the organization decided that for each twenty-five per cent. excess of the quota one Prince of Wales' Crest will be awarded. Thus the workers in a district doubling its quota will be the proud winners of four small crests for their Honour Flag. These crests will be sewn to the flag. The Prince's Crest—the three British plumes—is shown at the top of the article.

To every organization with fifty or more employees, where seventy-five per cent. of the enrollment invests a total of ten per cent. of the annual payroll in Victory Bonds, a supplemental Prince of Wales' Flag, in small form, 48 inches by 34 inches—will be awarded.

The allotment for each district has been carefully considered, and is based on a conservative estimate of the purchasing power of the district.

Your district can sell its allotment and thus win the Prince's Flag, provided each person does his or her share.

You will gladly do your part and encourage your neighbour to do his.

Remember YOUR purchase may be the one that decides whether or not your district is to be the proud possessor of the Prince's Flag.

Mr. W. Bruce Marsden accompanied Mr. Chas. Thompson into town last Saturday.

Mr. Walter Walwork has quit the ranch and he and his family have moved in town for the winter months.

Mr. Emerson and family have moved from their farm North of town to their home farm in the Wimmett district.

The Pierce Coulee mining Co. is doing an enormous trade. Judging from the scores of coal wagons travelling the North road of the town.

Mr. Geo. Monda has shipped in a registered Jersey Cow from Medicine Hat, and is well satisfied with her, we would like to see a few more real cows come into this neighbourhood, the days of the scrub cow are passing.

Mrs. O. A. Anderson visited at Grand View Farm on Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. A. E. Adair is busily engaged plowing for Mr. Fred Parker on the Bill Murphy farm, one mile North of Good Cheer.

Messrs. Peterson and Depew were business visitors to Lethbridge in search of hay, they report plenty of forage and good quality.

Good Cheer school is closed. Miss. Dean the late schoolmistress is teaching south of Whiteman.

A Bear story is drifting in from the river district rather terrifying to some of the river folks, if the bare facts were known, someone probably under the exhilarating influence of Cherry Wine, mistook a Porcupine, for a bear and straightway quit the flats barely making a second examination for proof, however we sincerely trust that the bear in question, was no more harmful than the gentleman of the quill'd overcast.

CHAPTER IX.

"Cafe de Madrid"—at midnight," said Ruggles's friend, and slammed the door of the taxi behind him.

Ruggles sat staring straight from his mind, he had crossed the Plaza de Espana. The taxi suddenly dropped his face into his hands. The doctor reached into his side pocket, drew out a well-seasoned pipe, while he strolled from his to his, took a long, leisurely draw, then smoked tranquilly. He did not so much as glance at Ruggles as they spun up the Champs Elysees.

Ruggles got himself in hand before the doctor could realize that he had mopped his face with his handkerchief and turned to look at his companion.

"Say, doctor," said Ruggles, "why did you do that?"

"I have a few of the blues? Because I heard the whole thing and liked your methods, old chap. That German bruiser forced it on you. He had it over you a good three stone, too. You did him a good turn, I suppose."

"I went out to Antwerp yesterday, but I didn't see any such jumping as that fat Johnny did when you were chivvying him around the chairs! You're pretty useful in a scrap, aren't you?"

"Oh, I'm not bad, but I'm not terribly," said the doctor, when I went in there, the last thing in my mind was a rough-house. But I just couldn't help telling those two just what I thought of 'em. They'd done me dirt!"

I gathered that from the conversation," answered the doctor. "Don't take it too much to heart. You've got jolly well square, and men like that don't fit in work for. What a beautiful row it was, anyway," he laughed.

But it was no laughing matter for Ruggles. He felt as crushed as might any man who in a fit of rage had broken and trampled sacred emblems. He had made a wreck of the company's glittering store (and some of its survivors), and even though the company had been guilty of many sins, the company was a company entitled to the respect of its dignity as such.

He took no satisfaction in the devastation which he had wrought. As a matter of fact, he had no very clear idea of what he had done. He had passed after Lorenz's aquiline tawny had sunk into the flesh of his upper arm. He remembered having knocked Lorenz down, and was not disposed to grieve greatly over this, though he had been the right sort of fellow to be in the street. But fast to nail and then to chase the pup Madrid round and round the chairs and up into the ladies department was nothing short of ruffianly and Ruggles's blood had now been bowed with shame at his accouplement.

He decided that beneath his polite exterior he must be possessed of the soul of an Apache. What would Ruth think when she heard of his violence?

What would Dick and Mr. Downing think—and Darties and Miss Chaliland and Mr. Falconer (an elderly retired English clergyman whom Ruggles had never heard of, but who had shown him great consideration), and the rector of the English Church and other friends and acquaintances who had always regarded him as an eminent respectable and confidential gentleman, would sit all in the papers, no doubt, and he would very probably be arrested on a charge of assault preferred by the police and publicly disgraced before a tribunal? Darties was right, and he had been right all along. The secret of his position was a sit-at-home—and the train of circumstances appeared to show that Darties had been right. Ruggles felt that he had acted like a what he had called a "hussy," and that he was no longer entitled to be treated as such. He was a decent person, least of all, himself. Consequently he was a good deal surprised, when Dr. Hamilton's Pills set to work. Taking them while you sleep, morning finds you fresh and hungry, headache all gone, cheeks rosy, eyes bright, spirit good.

HOW THIS NERVOUS WOMAN GOT WELL

Told by Herself. Her Sincerity Should Convince Others.

Christopher, Ill.—"For four years I suffered from irregularities, weakness, nervousness, and a number of other conditions. Two of our best doctors told me I was in very good condition. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as to buy some, but had no success. Then I met Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and the result of their use was a sit-at-home—and the train of circumstances appeared to show that Darties had been right. Ruggles felt that he had acted like a what he had called a "hussy," and that he was no longer entitled to be treated as such. He was a decent person, least of all, himself. Consequently he was a good deal surprised, when Dr. Hamilton's Pills set to work. Taking them while you sleep, morning finds you fresh and hungry, headache all gone, cheeks rosy, eyes bright, spirit good.

He turned to his friend. "Sir Henry, perhaps you have already met Lord Pembroke, who is on his way out to the Porte under the auspices of the Red Cross. And this is Mr. Ruggles, of Hotel Bow Island, and here, bringin' at how low in the name of all that was conventional he happened to be touchin' at the Madrid with John Dargiby, seventh Earl of Pen-

Ruggles was not required, to say much, which was fortunate for Ruggles. Lord Pembroke made a few pleasant remarks, and then they proceeded to find their tables. Ruggles followed "his host," his head in a whiz.

"Lord Pembroke!" he muttered, "Get out!"

He had a wash and brush up,

"So you know old Falconer? Nice old bird!

Then he uncle laid and left him a pot of money. Glad of it."

Ruggles did not have the force to protest further. Besides, as the doctor said, he had almost arrived. The taxi turned into the gardens of the hotel and laid him down, then stepped out after his host. The first person on whom his eyes fell was Mr. Falconer, who was in the act of giving some directions to his chauffeur. His car had stopped directly before that of Ruggles and his host.

Mr. Falconer was a friend, a gentleman whose years approached his own. Ruggles hoped that he would be allowed to let him to the music and take the consequences of his act, instead of being whisked away like a pickpocket or vagabond. He had been a bit afraid of the car at the corner. He couldn't bear looking his friend and feeling grateful to him, but at the same time he was inclined to distrust this disinterested kindness. Why should this fellow have dragged him into the store? He was carefree whether he was arrested or not? Sharing the end of a bench and giving him a newspaper with which he was finished was hardly enough to make Ruggles feel confident about him. Ruggles felt forced to admit to himself that his charm, more a rather tough sort of fellow, who had enjoyed his performance in the shop, and also because he rather lonely and wanted a little excitement. Glancing at the Englishman's hands, he observed that they were hard and roughened as if he had been working at his trade. His face (was weather-beaten) the sort of face one would expect to find on a cowboy rather than on a son of a lord. The many years of labor at the wheel dimmed his memory, remembrance of their names. Then as his quick glance rested on Ruggles's companion, his gentle face broke into smiles and he came forward with outstretched hand.

But Mr. Falconer's keen eyes had already caught sight of Ruggles, for Mr. Falconer had a lifelong habit of looking at the many people passing at the window, and remembering their names. Then as his quick glance rested on Ruggles's companion, his gentle face broke into smiles and he came forward with outstretched hand.

"Accept 'California Syrup of Figs' on my book for me, and when you are gone your child is having the best and most delicious fruit juice taste," said Mrs. Falconer, handing him a bottle. Give it to your mother! You must say 'California'."

Canadian Grown Seeds

In Many Cases Are Superior to the Imported Varieties

Since 1914, important, almost colossal, developments have taken place in roots. Prior to the war, Canada used 99 per cent of her seed in war conditions emphasized the fact that she should depend on her own resources. At the present moment Canadian-grown seeds compare most favorably and in many cases are superior to the imported varieties.

Mangel seed in British Columbia has exceeded a ton an acre. Carrot seed in the same province is not only equal to, but heavier than, the imported variety. It has been found that Nova Scotia is essentially a turning growing home. The result of what were originally experiments that Canada will not only have to depend on herself, but will be able to export in large quantities. With this end in view, the experimental stations in both Eastern and Western Canada are being increased, the object of providing seed growing concerns with stock seed, in other words the guaranteed pure and first quality article.

JOURNAL OUTLOOK

"I engaged the rooms for my holiday," he said, "because the landlady wrote me that they overlooked a superb garden of 200 acres, richly stocked with statuary, which I was at liberty to promenade."

"Well?" his friend inquired.

"It was a cemetery," he said, bitterly.

Chinese Department Store

Completes Equipment by Selling Hotel Accommodations

The American traveller in China may nowadays be reminded of the department store, but there is one thing about the department store in China that serves as a special reminder of other ways in America, to the Americans, and generally to the Chinese.

Modelled on the American department store, and dealing in many familiar commodities from the United States, the emporium in Hong Kong has been built up to be the largest hotel accommodation in China.

It is the Chinese who are most inconvenienced by the high cost of living in China, and the Chinese are the ones who benefit most from the installation and maintenance of the overhead equipment.

For this reason, it is the Chinese who benefit most from the installation and maintenance of the overhead equipment.

Heligoland Resuming

Correspondent Reports State of General Satisfaction Among Islanders

The islanders, forced to migrate to the islands during the war, have had to go back to their homes, the smallest Nation in the world, as the Heligolander likes to call themselves, is hoping that by another season the island will again be a popular summer resort.

The thought of most distresses them is the possibility that the demolition of the fortifications by the Entente commission which is presently to arrive for that purpose may work some injury to the natural beauty of Heligoland. The islanders who were there to have a last look at the German engineering which will soon be demolished, report a state of general satisfaction.

Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the part affected, so that the healing vapor of Catarrhozene is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and lungs. Catarrhozene is a mixture of volatile oils which kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the same oils which are used in the treatment of colds, influenza, bronchitis or throat trouble.

The wonderfully-scented vapor of Catarrhozene instantly reaches the lungs and throat, and produces a healing curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid. Catarrhozene goes merely to the stomach, and fails entirely to help the throat or lungs.
